The Grand basically named itself due to the characteristics and performance of this strain. Its genetic composition of T2 is the base of all our strains just as you think of the Grand Canyon when you think of a National Park. Any and every time of year the Park shows its beauty like in almost every climate The Grand strain shines.

The Grand is noted for high terpene production coupled with CBD yields consistently above 10% and reaching 16% under optimal growing conditions. The plant has tremendous structural integrity and strength that can withstand the elements. The terpene profile is fruity with overtones of cedar and pine. Common coloring is deep green to at times almost a blueish hue. In cooler climates, a dark purple will outline the leaves just like the lines on the canyon cliff walls. The Grand is consistently our best yielding variety.
